

SCHOOL DISTRICTS ELIGIBLE FOR THE SRS PROGRAM IN EACH OF FISCAL YEARS 2002 THROUGH 2004.

School districts that were eligible for a grant under the Small, Rural Schools Achievement (SRS) program and/or eligible for the use of redirection (REAP-Flex) in each of fiscal years 2002, 2003, and 2004 need to address the accountability provisions of the law if the district did not make adequate yearly progress (AYP) for the 2004-2005 school year. These provisions require that districts must use SRS funds, or any funds it uses under redirection/REAP-Flex authority, in subsequent school years only to carry out improvement activities authorized under section 1116 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. A district may use its funds only for activities authorized section 1116 until it meets its State's definition of AYP.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS ELIGIBLE FOR THE RLI PROGRAM IN EACH OF FISCAL YEARS 2002 THROUGH 2004.

School districts that were eligible for a grant under the Rural Low-Income Schools (RLI) program that did not make adequate yearly progress (AYP) for the 2004-2005 school year must use their RLI funds to carry out improvement activities authorized under section 1116 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. A district may use its funds only for activities authorized section 1116 until it meets its State's definition of AYP.
